

Prideaux Centre for Research in Health Professions Education

9 – 11am Friday 3 November | Dean's Conference Room, 6E110.1, Level 6 FMC

Flinders UNIVERSITY

inspiring achievement

Presentation 1

State of the Discipline: A Study of Specialised Journals in Health Professional Education

Health professions education – can we call it a discipline or a profession? This presentation reports on the progress of a research project examining the health professions education literature, including the identification of HPE journals. The project team includes Dr Svetlana King, Mrs Raechel Damarell and Dr Ruth Sladek.

This session will also involve a discussion on HPE publishing experiences, and educational issues that are considered to be common across the health professions.

Dr Svetlana King
Research Manager, Prideaux Centre

Mrs Raechel Damarell
*Senior Liaison Librarian,
College of Medicine &
Public Health*

Dr Ruth Sladek
Senior Lecturer in Medical Education

Presentation 2

Peer Reviewing: Chore or Choice

This session will initially focus on the academic responsibility for peer reviewing for referred journals.

There will be further discussion of approaches to reviewing and incorporating it into academic workloads.

Emeritus Professor David Prideaux Emeritus Professor of Medical Education

David Prideaux is Emeritus Professor of Medical Education in the Prideaux Centre. He was formerly Head of Health Professional Education at Flinders. He has an extensive background and research interests in curriculum, clinical education and assessment in health professions education.

RSVP here to attend or to arrange video conferencing

