

Research Biography

Wei Wei is a PhD candidate in the College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences at Flinders University. Coming from China, she has a Chinese-teaching background in China, and is now a registered teacher in Australia. With Master's degrees in Teaching Chinese as a Second Language, Teaching, and TESOL, she integrates the knowledge of language teaching and pays special attention to children's language and literacy development in Australia. Her current study focuses on home language maintenance among Chinese families. By investigating the language policies in different social contexts, she hopes to support children's wellbeing and language development for life-long benefits.

Qualifications

Master, TESOL, Flinders University
1 Feb 2020 → 29 Aug 2022
Award Date: 29 Sept 2022

Master, Teaching (early childhood), University of South Australia
1 Feb 2016 → 19 Sept 2018
Award Date: 19 Sept 2018

Master, Teaching Chinese to Speakers of Other Languages, Sichuan Normal University
1 Feb 2012 → 1 Jul 2014
Award Date: 1 Jul 2014

Employment

Casual Academic

College of Education, Psychology and Social Work
Flinders University
13 Aug 2023 → 31 Dec 2099

Ph.D., The Development of Home Language among Chinese Migrant Families in South Australia

College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences
Flinders University
4 Oct 2022 → present